ORDER

AND NOW, this 28th day of May, 2019, upon the submission of the parties and with the express understanding and agreement by Jenna Kraycer-Tuzze (counsel for former Defendants, Catholic Social Services of the Diocese of Scranton, Inc. and Geneva Mathuse, (hereinafter collectively referred to as the “CSS”)), and J.W.’s Guardian Ad Litem, Seth Weber, Esquire, the Court finds as follows:

1. J.W. is a minor and may not have a recollection or understanding of documents that may involve him;
2. As a result, it is necessary for J.W.’s Guardian Ad Litem to be provided an opportunity to review any records related to J.W. for the purposes of representing J.W.’s interests including representing, in particular, any interests J.W. may have related to the materials in possession of CSS; and
3. CSS has already provided J.W.-related records to Mr. Weber pursuant to his services as J.W.’s Guardian Ad Litem.

NOW, THEREFORE, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED as follows:

1. The guardian ad litem shall review any documents already provided to him by counsel for CSS for the sole purpose of determining what, if any, action the guardian ad litem wishes to take with respect to the interests of J.W;

2. Upon the completion of the guardian ad litem's review of the CSS documents, he will provide instructions to counsel for CSS as to what, if any, redactions that should be made in accordance with the Court's April 24, 2019 Memorandum (Doc. No. 79);

3. Following the guardian ad litem's review and after any redactions that CSS is directed to make to its documents, such documents should be produced to all parties to this matter;

4. All parties will handle such documents in accordance with the Court's May 10, 2019 Amended Protective Order (Doc. No. 84);

5. J.W.'s Guardian Ad Litem will maintain a detailed privilege log with regard to any redacted materials;

6. J.W.'s Guardian Ad Litem will provide redacted materials to the Court for in camera review should there be a redaction challenge; and

7. No person or party may be deemed to have violated any state or federal law or regulation as a result of proceeding under this order.
